

I worked with an irl friend to send a document to vixen. Some stuff is staged, some stuff is real, but it doesn't matter because I made sure I wouldn't be able to disprove anything. I made sure to include a lot in order to upset everyone. I want no incentive to return. I don't know about the contest. I don't think it matters anymore and it didn't seem a lot were participating anyways. I don't know about artfol or any of my other accounts, I think I will take Lias advice and just take a break from social media and if I ever come back it will be entirely disconnected from all my current socials. I want to engage in real life and not my addiction to social media.

I wrote this months ago, even before the vixen stuff:

Why I left:

I always want to quit notability due to the program, and people running this app, but always stayed because the community was always so kind to me no matter what and I loved the community. I want all of those who always left really positive comments on my posts and always supported me, I am so thankful for you all, you were all the most support I've ever gotten from my weird doodles and I appreciate you all so much. So many of you were always so wonderful, and even were there for me when I did stupid things. I'm sorry the very few people on this app managed to make me feel so s____ and do s____ things too. My friend gave me wonderful advice to start a new account with no ties to my current accounts and to be away from notability, and I've been working on that. I can't really promise I'll ever post here again because things have been going so well for me, but I do plan to check in or maybe still post if I'm up to it after all this time. I'll always be active on my discord and current Artfol though, I just might slowly merged away from my Artfol account too, but I don't know anything for sure yet. It feels weird talking about things that happened so long ago but I just wanted to talk about it before I forget so if I do disappear for good and so there isn't some lie about me being dead or leaving you all with no goodbye or something. I'm probably not gone for good, but I am 17 soon, and it's time I do merge off. I don't have an iPad, so when I do become elderly I won't be able to post here anymore, and I am joining the airforce once I finish high school when I turn 17 so I won't have a lot of time for art during that, especially no time to post. I don't know where I'll be 4 years after that, but I won't be here. I'm sorry if there are any errors, tbh I'm too lazy rn to read this all over.

Summary: I'm getting old and have better things to focus on I also just lost a lot of interest for art....

I have to leave. Please let me leave.