

Every good rhyme starts with once upon a time long ago far away centuries before our day humans lived monsters roamed.
Both shared Earth and sky as home. Yet this peace, came undone. War was waged and humans won... forced below, monsters fell, humans trapped them with a spell.. listen children to my words, Ebott will eat you beware the curse.

