

Poetry Challenge...Day 2: Pantoum

- 2nd and 4th line from each stanza becomes 1st and 3rd of next
- no rhyme scheme, no syllable/line count

A blue so deep it looks like ocean
It makes me wonder how deep it could be
All I am watching is one single moment
If I started it, would I die?

It makes me wonder how deep it could be
The darkest of blues can make me calm
If I started it, would I die?
That blue makes me wonder if I should let go

The darkest of blues can make me calm
Though for others, they must be lighter
That blue makes me wonder if I should let go
I know others would not agree

Though for others, they must be lighter
Not a blue so deep it looks like ocean
In the end, I hope it works out
Because if I started it, would I die?