

if you would really like to be a leader, spy, or co-leader, please fill this out

Do you know anyone from any other teams in person (mainly spy)

A brief description of your personality (be honest):

I'm smart, and funny. (At least I think I am) I'm also very good at getting people to do stuff. (I guess that qualifies as leadership?)

Why would you like to be the leader/spy/co-leader

I want to be a leader or co-leader because even tho I'm relatively new to Notability, I think I'd make an awesome leader. I am very good at negotiating, and finding solutions that make everyone happy.

What do you consider is good leadership?

A person who knows what to do under pressure and who doesn't make biased decisions.

Do you fall under this category (be super honest)?

What will your contributions be towards team dragon?

I will try to listen to what everyone has to say so that no one doesn't have a say. Even tho I barely know some of my teammates, I will try my best to be a good leader.

Can you maintain a schedule and respond to fellow team mates?

Yes, I check my notifications daily and sometimes hourly. I will definitely be able to hear what they have to say.

How will you communicate with us so other teams spies don't find out what we're doing?

I think we can discuss strategies through code or maybe through email so that the other teams won't hear.

Do you think you are a qualified candidate?
