

There's nothing funny about people dying

There's nothing funny about historical events

There's nothing funny about people trapped in a burning building

There's nothing funny about people jumping off buildings

There's nothing funny about planes crashing on purpose

There's nothing funny about 9/11