

To avoid being overwhelmed I don't take requests. However, a few weeks ago a user asked me to draw this kind of little bird and I told them I'd think about it. And I have thought about it

Most people ask me to draw their ocs or something complicated. But this prompt was interesting and fun and not something only the requester cared about!

So shout-out to mystery bird requester I may have forgotten your name and the bird's name but I didn't forget.
