

We made it to camp not too long after. I let Cypher and the others get out while me and Dev grabbed their bags. They each had a day pack so it wasn't so bad. I grabbed Evelyn's despite Dev's protests. I'm not dying. I tell him. He pouted but didn't argue further. We set the twins' stuff down by their cabin then grabbed a snack. There was some yelling going on in their cabin but I didn't think we would leave unscathed if we eavesdropped. Afterward we saw Cypher sprint toward the Big House. Should we follow him? Dev asks me. Probably. I say and we run after him. I'll admit I really shouldn't be running but I did anyway and nobody was going to stop me. Evelyn saw us running and ran with us. Why are we running? She asks me. Cypher sprinted this way and he seemed to have something on his mind. We got there just as Cypher was catching his breath. What's wrong? Chiron asks Cypher. Dad said to tell you 'Ego postulo ut.. ad... lovem' he said trying to pronounce it. It was Latin. My Latin was too rusty to translate. I cursed that I had given it up. What's Jupiter? Evelyn asked and we all turned to her. Chiron's face turned grim. That's not a good sign. I think. And he nodded. Get Knole. I will send a message to Camp Jupiter. Pack your bags here's. It's time for you guys to run away. Of course. I think and we all run out of the Big House.