

Introduction

Hi there, I'm Chase Inumbro. It's pronounced i-nume-bro. Now I know what you're thinking, I have a strange last name don't I, but I somehow found out that it means cast a shadow on! ummm... A little creepy but isn't that AWESOME?! Anyways... I am a coelestus, the singular term for coelesti. In the ancient language it means 'heavenly' or 'of the sky'. That pretty much describes the coelesti. Our culture revolves around the atmosphere and everything in it, our manors are even named after types of clouds. Well, This is the story of how I live a perfect, happy, and peaceful life. THE END. Wasn't that a great story! Just kidding! Unfortunately this is my real story. A story of stolen souls, a quest, shadows, and a castle named after the word that means corpse. It actually means a corpse ready for dissection but... I shouldn't have said that right? Please keep going, I beg you, it gets really good! I won't haunt your nightmares anymore, I promise! I also won't keep you any longer, so here is the best story you will most likely ever read.