

Lore

What May look like a simple rag doll cat is actually a hungry beast hiding beneath the fabric.

It hides at playgrounds hoping for an unexpectedly kid to pick him up and bring him home. At when the clock turns 12 is when the true horrors come alive.

The true beast that rest under the fabric will rip out and make its way to the child to have feast of his own and when he's done he'll leave and go back home to the forest to fix all the rips in the rag doll it possess
