

Okay, I'm getting a lot of flak about "how did your mom delete it if your still posting?"

I'm just gonna explain everything:

I was supposed to be doing school work, (like right now) and instead i'm doing this blah blah blah then my mom comes around the corner and before i can change back, she's like "what are you doing?" and then im like "nothing" and then she takes my ipad starts going on it like what and then she gets all squinty eyed and she is scrolling through all of my notes and then she tells me to "go to your room" so i go and like 15 minutes later she called me out and the she started yelling at me about how i should be doing my homework and why am i talking to random people and after that she tells me that she deleted notability and if i redownload it she'll know, (she don't lol) and the next day i redownload it and see that all of my notes are gone except for the ones that i posted and here i am. So there.