

What was your weirdest dream?

I'll start:

I had a dream once that my dad was dressed as an old lady. -@seabunny

I had a dream that my mom tried to kill me- koala

So I had a dream where I first joined a server in Minecraft but it was real life. I still had inventory and stuff but I looked human. After we went to a wierd old house and a creepy lady took us on one by one, at last I entered. All my friends were frozen in fear standing still like ghosts, but as I entered then where I was standing rose up to the sky. I realized that they were frozen cause they had failed facing their greatest fear so I stood through it and finally the doors opened and they all were unfrozen and we ran out of there, we turned around and demons were chasing us so we pulled out our netherite gear and totems and fought them off and then pulled out elytra and flew off into the distance. -@legorathalos14

I had a dream when I was like two that I was in a haunted house and to me then it was super scary but the funny thing is there was a narrator that said everything that happened 🗿. For example (in creepy voice "THE cAt TuRnEd Off tHe LiGhTs....." at the time it was scary but now it's just funny.

I had a dream that I was in an empty parking garage with my mom. We saw a sliding door so we went through. We walked in and saw two little frog humidifiers and they were pretty cute. We picked up and ate the frogs and they turned into popcorn but low quality. All of a sudden the ground started shaking and the floor opened up and a big frog humidifier started chasing us. We ran away and I asked my mom to carry me because I was slow but she ignored me :(

I had a dream where I was falling off a cliff and I fell onto a bunch of spikes and i could see my organs being pierced by the spikes but for some reason I wasn't dy*ng. Then a screen appeared in front of me and it kept on replaying the moment I got stabbed by the spikes. I then somehow got into a log cabin and a random person kept on saying "LeT's g0 oN A hIKe?!" very creepily. So I went on the hike and then I was back on the cliff and as i tried to run back down the cliff the cliff was falling apart and I fell into the water and as i drowned (cuz my lungs weren't working (probably cuz i got st@bbed by the spikes earlier)) i saw the spikes from before and a shark guarding them. Then as the shark saw me and ate me i woke up. . .-@eyera_the_arts