Btw this is another song abt the end credits of the world

My head spins, as the air gets way to thin

Now my head is spinning side to side as the wind gets

I barely breathe the air is against me

I can barely breathe as the air gets way to thin

We're neck deep in our sorrows, we're head deep in the our choi-ces

We are getting more into our sorrows as we get into our choices

The world is slowly dying as we get farther into our surrows

My head is spinning so fast as the air gets thin

I whirl around and begin to grin

It's exhilaratingly painful and I love it

Since the world is ending I can never be free

What's ur fav color?
