

Document 1:

I'm suspecting that sm1 who was formerly/is still in the gallery is the one using & posting on this acc. The way how sm1 types can reveal a lot about them. 4 example, this "creator" constantly uses exclamation points, and seems to not interact with the comment section. They use kaomoji half of the time, and their handwriting is very messy. Most of their stolen art seems 2 come from @rxc00n, but they have recently started stealing artwork taken from @chuuyaswife, most prominently the character "Claudia." It's likely that this unknown(?) person has interacted with these specific people, and may have came from their group, or they specifically like their artstyles, which is interesting. They seem 2 show no remorse, and they act as if their obvious behavior isn't existent. They seem 2 follow specific users, so we can possibly find out who they are by seeing who others follow as well; try to find a proper match. Later after this doc, I'll be investigating a couple of users 2 see if they have any suspicious activity. Since this person's posts showed up on my account, it seems like I've used 2 follow them (I still do bc I'm investigating them and it's quicker 4 the content 2 be on my page)