

My sisters friend came over and we were chilling until they climbed on a massive box truck in my yard and cuffed me a wussy and started peer pressuring because I didn't want to do it. Later I tried to have just me time playing gorilla tag but nope. They flipped my headset off of my face and my glasses also flew off of my face, and they didn't think much of it. They just went along laughing without caring.