

Up house, my first drawing on notability, I wouldn't post it for 1 year though. Mostly mad up of squares and lines

Master Sword V1, a super messy drawing that was mostly traced. I would later redraw this

Lucario, my first Pokémon! I traced the line art though. The first look at my style today

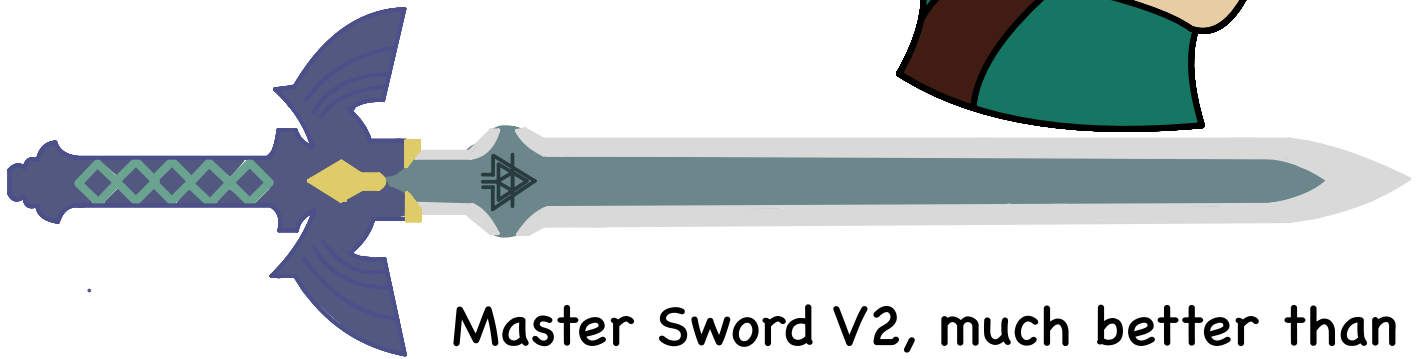

Animal crossing, super low poly and messy. Not traced this time though!

Sheika Slate, my first note on the gallery!
If you look closely, everything is misaligned

Frogs! Too this day, this is my most liked note my style is emerging.

Auxo, my first oc. too this day I don't know why I made her this grumpy. I lost the sketch sadly.

Master Sword V2, much better than the first one and... not traced!

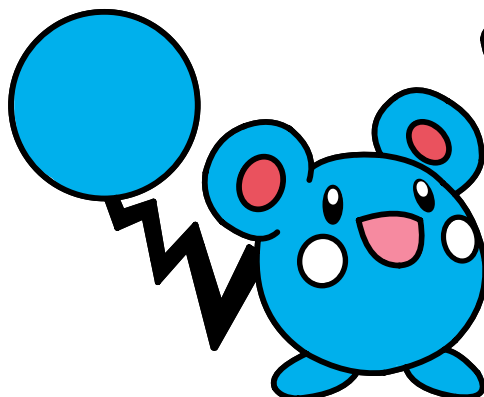

Linkario, still probably one of my favorite notes. Posted for 25 followers. My style has come together now.

Nothing, I ran out of inspiration. I posted old notes for a while. Then nothing... I was considering killing myself for a bit. (Not because of the gallery, because of things in my life)

Eeveelutions, My comeback, after some serious art block I started drawing these one at a time. I love this note and all of them. I spent 2 weeks drawing these Hooupa and others, after a break over the summer I came back. I've been posting Pokémon weekly since

Requests, I ran out of ideas, so I looked to you guys, I love how most of them came out!

Noodle, and here we are today! Thank you for 100 followers. Seriously I never could have dreamt of this two years ago!

Thank You
For 100
Followers!