

Hey is samcattt!

I'm in a hospital bed but I can still type. I don't really remember what happened or why I tried to do that but I'm ok now. I'm alive. I have a little amnesia and I almost forgot what notability even is. My mom just gave me my iPad for a bit to catch up. I remember that I was holding my iPad and then uh I woke up here. What happened while I was gone and dang it's how long have I been knocked out? Oh it doesn't matter. How r y'all doing rn? I mean I feel tired. It feels like my throat hurts and I can barely talk. And there's like this clear tube in my nose helping me breathe so that's something. I can barely look up so my iPad is like next to me and my head is tilted. What happend while I was gone? Again I don't remember why I was mad so can y'all tell me in the uh. What's it called. The uh. Comments. Tell me why I was mad. And bro this hospital Internet. gtg the nurse is coming.