

Chapter 2

Jack walked in at that moment, immediately sensing something wrong. “What happened?” He asked. As Kay explains what happened, i start to break down. He can’t be gone. He’s my best friend...I can’t lose him...As Mike walks in, he sees me balling and immediately comes over to hug me. He had already heard the news so he whispers “It’s okay Court...It’s going to be okay..” I didn’t notice how much time had passed till our class bell rang out, signaling the end of class. I picked up my bag and went to my next class. As i sit down, Parker says “Heyy Courtney!” like usual but i just respond with “Not today, Park.” and grab my notebook. As class goes on, my mind wanders back to Brandon over and over again. Not being able to focus, i gather my stuff and wait for the bell. After the bell rings, I go to my bus. As people get on, i stare out the window, hoping deep down that its all a lie but know it isn’t...
