

Part 2 of
“Not to Long...”
Mini Series by Cinnamonroll!

Chess class immediately started after ELA. (To remind you she's still running think about classes “Not worth it, just sit back and relax in chess class,” Thought Macy. “Hey! Macy, you literally can't run away from school Like that! It's required to go to school, I mean yeah the grades don't matter but come back! Ms. Howard literally is freaking out right now because you were the smartest in class, hurry!” Seth yelled. “No, Seth! I will not come and it's final! I will be not to long, Tell Ms. Howard that. A couple days at home and I'll be good!” Macy yelled back. “You can't! Ms Howard wants you back now! She's freaking out because your not there! Get back here, we need you in our class now! Your the best one in there, though that incident your still mad about, it's fine! It's been like 6 days since then! Please Macy, Come Back! We need you, you were the best leader and teacher of our class!” Seth yelled back, lying intently. Macy held her breath and counted to 4. She wanted to yell at Seth, but knew had no right, Macy just kept running. She stopped halfway until out of school reach, she slept on the road for 2 days. No food or water. She kept running, until she made it to her neighborhood. Seth followed her. Seth also slept on the side of the road, with no food or water. Seth kept on going until he made it to Macy's house. “Seth! What the world are you doing here? I told you I will be back in school later, go before I tell my mom that your stalking me!” Macy yelled. “I'm not stalking you, I'm doing the right thing!” Seth yelled. “No! Your not, Seth! i know you are stalking me! It's been 2 days since then! Be quiet and go away from here! I will literally tell on you!” Macy yelled.
