

So, the news...

Unfortunately, thanks to that damned usage limit, we found ourselves unable to post this earlier. But yes, "we". Because as it turns out, Wolfe is an OSDD system.

We are extremely fictive-heavy (meaning, most alters are based on fictional characters). Do be mindful that not all of us are willing to talk about our source media.

We will still be as active as possible, but do be mindful that we are different people and merely share the same body as Wolfe and each other.

You are welcome to ask us well-meaning questions. If anyone here is aware of 'syscourse', then we'd like to express that we have no interest in that.

Good day, or night, to all 500 of you.

Signed,
Artekwin.