

Masks can be funny or scary you can wear them on halloween and party's my friend ella told me to wear a halloween mask to her halloween party and when I showed up nobody was wearing a mask and ella started laughing at me and then everyone else started laughing so then I left and ran back home crying.

The next day I didn't go to school cause of last night I was so humiliated that I didn't want to be friends with Ella anymore. a week later I went back to school and then I saw Ella I was about to go to my Locker but then Ella noticed me she came running down the hall and said "ally I've been so worried about you and I forgot that it was a mask party". I new she was lying cause whenever she lyes her voice turns high.

I told Ella that if she does that again I wouldn't be friends with her anymore. after school Ella came running to me and said that she is doing another Halloween party tomorrow and told me to were a Costume but with no mask and I said ok. I know she is trying to embarrassed again so I put on a Halloween costume with a mask. the next day I was looking for the costume and I found it and put it on I waited till it was night. it was finally night I left to Ella's house before I went in I herd Ella say "everyone get your phones out and video ally with her Halloween costume and she doesn't know that we are wearing masks with are Halloween costumes". I new it I walked in and everyone was shocked the end.
